

Racquettes

We're Racquettes, the UK's first female Racketlon club.

Not many people have heard of Racketlon... but our mission is to change that! We want to inspire women to take up competitive racket sports, and let off some steam whilst doing so.

So first things first, we need a website!

We're looking for awesome designers and coders to assist us with creating our site and spreading the word.

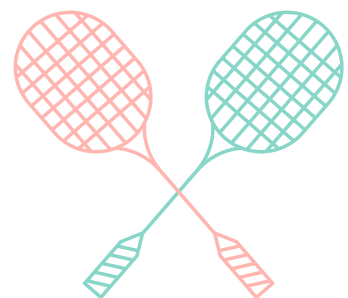

We've got some basic branding, assets and copy, but we need help with web design and development.

We're open to any suggestions, but we'd like our site to include the following sections;

- * An intro to Racketlon
- * The types of racket sports involved in Racketlon
- * A weekly club timetable
- * News about our upcoming tournaments
- * Information about our membership with a button to sign up
- * Our contact details
- * A sign-up form for our newsletter

Some things which would be nice to include;

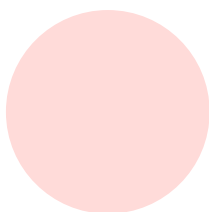

- * Simple animations
- * An interesting scroll effect

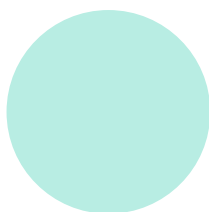

Racquettes

Our brand represents our personality. We're feminine and characterful! Here's a breakdown of our brand colours and fonts, which we'd love to see shining through in our website.
